Dulles Warns Soviet May Yet Balk Arms Cut

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today it would be "folly" to dismantle the free world defenses in reliance only on "unsupervised Soviet promises" to disarm.

"We do not yet know," Dulles said, whether the Russians are really willing to accept supervision that the United States says is necessary to make any disarmament agreement safe.

Endorses Aid Program

Dulles sounded this note of caution about disarmament talks now under way in London in asking the House Foreign Affairs Committee to approve President Eisenhower's $3,865,000,000 foreign aid program for the year starting July 1.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has already approved the measure with only a 227-million-dollar cut and with much of the long-term aid authority Eisenhower sought.

In a report issued today, the Senate group conceded this is a lot of money but said "The American people are sufficiently mature and aware of the world situation which they face to give their support to a program of this character."

"Impressive Appeal"

Dulles got a quiet but not unfriendly reception in his first appearance before the House committee on the bill. Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) said Dulles "made an impressive appeal."

But the program still faces stiff congressional hurdles before it can become law. The authorization measure is expected to reach the Senate floor later this week. And since it only sets out terms and ceilings for aid, without providing the money, an appropriation bill must be passed later to supply the actual cash.

U.S. May Slash Budapest Staff

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 10 (AP)—A spokesman for the U. S. legation said today the United States probably will cut its Budapest staff even more than the one-third demanded by Hungary's Communist government.

He added that this will not affect the status of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, who took refuge in the legation when the Russians put down the fall rebellion.

The Foreign Ministry told the legation in effect May 25 that, because it had been boycotting Premier Janos Kadar's government, it would have to send home nine of its 21 diplomats and four of its 13 non-diplomatic American personnel. It pointed out that before World War II, when relations between Budapest and Washington were much better, the number of Americans had been much smaller.

In a note delivered to the Foreign Ministry today, the United States rejected the idea that Hungary could determine how many persons are needed to run the legation.

Jordan Military Alliance With Nasser Crumbling

AMMAN, Jordan, June 10 (AP)—The last remnants of Jordan's military alliance with Egypt and Syria appeared to be crumbling today.

Cairo's liaison with Jordan's military setup was broken by the removal of the Egyptian army representative here.

The widening split in the Arab world over leanings to East and West also brought a bitter estrangement between Jordan and Egypt on the diplomatic front.

Retaliation measures in the feud came in rapid order while Saudi Arabia's King Saud was here as the guest of Jordan's King Hussein. Both nominally are allied with Egypt and Syria but are regarded as inclined toward the West. Egypt and Syria get arms from the Soviet bloc.

The day's developments: 1. Jordan ordered two Egyptian diplomats ousted for an alleged assassination plot.

2. Jordan said it was recalling its ambassador in Cairo, but Egypt said he was being kicked out in retaliation for the removal of the two Egyptians from Amman.

3. Jordan demanded the removal of the Egyptian representatives on the joint Arab military command in Amman, but Egypt announced officially it was pulling him out.

Hutcheson (above), president of the Carpenters Union, invoked the Fifth Amendment yesterday in the face of evidence linking him to fast, fat profits in an Indiana highway scandal. Italy's Premier Rejects Fascist Support, Quits

ROME, June 10 (AP)—Adone Zoli decided tonight he hates Fascists more than he wants the job of premier.

The 69-year-old Italian senator, who once beat the death sentence of a Fascist court, resigned after 22 days as premier because Fascist party votes gave him the victory margin on a vote of confidence in the lower house of Parliament.

Before the vote, Zoli said he would resign rather than remain in office with Fascist support.

A reckoning today of Saturday's vote showed the Fascist "kiss of death" had spelled the difference between defeat and victory.

Zoli called his Christian Democratic party Cabinet into emergency session, announced he was quitting, and went to the presidential palace to hand President Giovanni Gronchi his resignation.

As a formality, Gronchi reserved decision and asked Zoli to carry on with "current affairs."

Gronchi is expected to find a successor. Attention appeared to center on Giuseppe Pella, vice premier and foreign affairs minister in the Zoli Cabinet.

Dave Beck's Passport Temporarily Lifted

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The State Department today temporarily lifted the passport of Teamsters Union President Dave Beck.

The action was taken at the request of the Justice Department and the special Senate investigating committee headed by Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.).

State Department officials said the request was made jointly last Friday after a federal court in Tacoma, Wash., rejected Beck's request for permission to travel to a labor conference at Paris.

Diefenbaker's Tories Score Election Upset

TORONTO, June 10 (AP)—In a smashing election upset, Canada's Conservative party today ended the 22-year rule of the Liberal party and swept nine Liberal Cabinet members from their seats in the House of Commons.

At 10:55 p. m. EST, the Canadian Press said that the Tories, led by 61-year-old John Diefenbaker, had won although failing to obtain an absolute majority.

In the normal course of events, the party winning the largest number of seats in Commons is asked to form the government.

The only top leaders of the outgoing Liberal government to retain their seats were the Prime Minister, 74-year-old Louis St. Laurent, and Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson.

St. Laurent himself won re-election from Quebec without difficulty.

Conservatives Lead 104-96

The 75-year-old Prime Minister indicated in Quebec tonight he will remain in Parliament whether as head of the government or opposition leader.

In 1945, the election resulted in a similar situation when neither party received a clear-cut majority. The Liberals, which had the largest number of seats, continued to govern.

With only 28 of the 265 seats remaining to be decided, the Conservatives led with 104 to 96 for the Liberals. The Socialists had 16 seats, the Social Credit party 16, and smaller independent parties 5.

St. Laurent said he would consult with his colleagues to "insure a proper course of action." He said the situation "is still vague."

Diefenbaker On TV

Diefenbaker said in a television broadcast that the election showed that Canadians have an abiding belief in the parliamentary system. This was a reference to his campaign charges that the liberals had curtailed parliamentary and individual liberties before in their 22 years in office.

The Tory leader said that if his party forms the government he will keep faith with the Canadian people.

Veteran Trade Minister C. D. Howe, swept out of Parliament in the upset, described the swing to the Conservatives "as a kind of disease going across the country."

Howe was one of the most powerful aides of the Prime Minister and was under heavy fire during the campaign.

Ships Leave Piers For Naval Review

NORFOLK, Va., June 10 (AP)—More than 100 U. S. and foreign warships will move from their piers early tomorrow morning and proceed to anchorages for Wednesday's international naval review, the largest in history.

Officials crossed their fingers tonight and hoped for winds that would hold at "about 15 knots." Ships will begin moving out at 4 a. m. and the final vessel should be in place shortly after 5 p. m. The double column will stretch 14 miles from Hampton Roads to Cape Henry.

Foreign ships—and there are 32 of them—will move from the piers and take up positions along the northern column, extending eastward from just off Old Point Comfort. Facing them in the southern column will be U. S. vessels.

Carpenters' Officials Take Cover In 5th

Union President Linked To Profits In Road Scandal

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—President Maurice A. Hutcheson of the powerful Carpenters Union resorted to the Fifth Amendment today in the face of evidence linking him to fast, fat profits in an Indiana highway scandal.

So did two other top officials of the union.

Hutcheson, 60, who is also a vice president and member of the executive board of the AFL-CIO, said it might incriminate him to answer questions about what Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) called "this conspiracy against the federal and state governments."

A Senate Public Works subcommittee of which Gore is chairman brought out testimony and documents indicating Hutcheson was in a five-way split of some $80,000 in profits on right-of-way land sales.

Denies Union Fund Misuse

At one point in his testimony, Hutcheson said: "I want to state that I have never used any brotherhood funds for anything except brotherhood business since I have been in office."

The subcommittee itself has uncovered no indication that union money figured in the highway scandals.

Even so, Hutcheson may be in trouble with the ethical code and high command of the AFL-CIO. He was one of those who sat in judgment when the AFL-CIO Executive Council voted unanimously to boot Teamsters President Dave Beck from its rolls.

That was after another Senate committee accused Beck of misusing some $370,000 of union funds and Beck, too, took the Fifth Amendment.

Other Union Officials Accused

The AFL-CIO code of ethics declares that any union official who takes the Fifth Amendment on matters of corruption is not entitled to continue in his position.

The Public Works subcommittee also trained its investigating guns on Frank M. Chapman, general treasurer of the 350,000-member Carpenters Union; Second Vice President O. William Blair; Virgil W. (Red) Smith, former chairman of the Indiana State Highway Department, and Harry V. Doggett, former chief land buyer for the department.

All four have ducked behind the Fifth Amendment—Chapman and Blair today, Smith and Doggett last month. Smith and Doggett are under indictment in connection with right-of-way acquisition for an Indianapolis expressway.

Allied Carriers Plan Transfer Of Warplanes

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., June 10 (AP)—The Navy said today two unprecedented naval exercises involving the large-scale transfer of warplanes between aircraft carriers of United States, Britain and France are in the planning stage and may come off this week.

Headquarters of both the Atlantic Fleet and the Supreme Allied Command Atlantic (SACLANT) of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Norfolk said the revolutionary exercises are being considered.

Ike Doctrine Endorsed

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, June 10 (AP)—Foreign Minister Eric Louw told Parliament today this nation must welcome the Eisenhower Doctrine, but proposals for U. S. military bases on the African continent "should be approached with reserve."

Frankfurter, Brennan and Whitaker, Chief Justice Warren took no part in the case.

The question before the court was whether Chessman was accorded due process of law in connection with proceedings concerning the accuracy and legality of a transcript of his 1948 trial.

The transcript was prepared by Stanley Frasier from notes taken by Ernest R. Perry, trial court reporter who died before he could transcribe all his notes. Frasier is a relative by marriage of the deputy district attorney who prosecuted Chessman.

Chessman tried unsuccessfully in November 1948 to have the California Supreme Court halt preparation of the transcript on the ground that Perry's notes could not be transcribed with reasonable accuracy.

180-Foot Girard Petition

A 180-foot scroll, carrying signatures of Ottawa, Ill., citizens on a petition seeking reversal of U. S. decision to allow Army Specialist William Girard to be tried by a Japanese court, is displayed in Ottawa by X. W. Girard's Home Town Appeals To White House

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—A delegation from William S. Girard's home town went to the White House today to plead that he be tried by an American court for the death of a Japanese woman.

Girard is the Army specialist third class accused of fatally shooting Mrs. Naka Sakai while she was scavenging for scrap metal on an American firing range in Japan Jan. 30.

Under an international agreement covering U. S. forces in Japan, the Defense Department has consented to Girard's trial in a Japanese court.

His relatives and fellow townsmen in Ottawa, Ill., believe the 21-year-old soldier should have the benefit of a U. S. trial, either before a court-martial or in other legal proceedings in this country.

First to arrive today were Girard's older brother, Louis, 27, and Louis' wife, Shirley. They bore a petition signed by 6,800 mothers of Ottawa.

Later they were joined by three Ottawa businessmen, Fred Gerding Sr., chairman of the board of the First National Bank; X. W. Mitchell, manager of the Alliance Theater, and LeRoy Clemens, city editor of the Ottawa Republican-Times.

Gerding and his companions also brought a petition with them. They said it bore the names of more than 10,000 persons in the Ottawa area who are protesting the government's decision to allow a Japanese trial.

The U. S. attorney's office took a step later in the day by filing a request in federal court for the dismissal of proceedings brought by Girard's American attorneys to force his return to this country. The government contended the decision to allow Japan to try Girard was a "political decision not subject to judicial review."

High Court Reversal Frees Two Women

Military Trials Held Unconstitutional For Pair Who Slew Husbands Overseas

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Supreme Court in an about-face today ruled that military trials would be unconstitutional for two women who killed their servicemen husbands overseas. The ruling freed the two women.

The 6-2 vote left unsettled, however, the question whether courts-martial may try civilians who accompany the armed forces abroad for crimes involving punishment short of a possible death penalty.

Justice Black, in the majority opinion, seemingly ruled out the possibility that the women might be subject to trial in foreign courts.

He said that, at the time both women were tried, agreements were in force with Great Britain and Japan giving U. S. military courts exclusive jurisdiction in offenses committed by American servicemen and their dependents.

Today's ruling by a 6-2 vote held that civilians who accompany the armed forces overseas may not be tried in military courts for crimes committed abroad.

The tribunal's first decision—by a 5-3 vote announced June 11, 1956—upheld the authority of military courts to try civilians.

Today's ruling was announced by Justice Black.

"Ours is a government of divided authority on the assumption that in division there is not only strength but freedom from tyranny," Black wrote.

"And under our Constitution courts of law alone are given power to try civilians for their offenses against the United States."

The women involved are Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith, convicted in Tokyo for the stabbing of Col. Aubrey D. Smith; and Mrs. Clarice B. Covert, convicted in England for the ax murder of Sgt. Edward E. Covert. Both women got life sentences.

Today's ruling—by a 6-2 vote—means that both women go free. No civil court now has jurisdiction to try them on the murder charges.

Mrs. Smith is a daughter of a World War II commander in the Pacific. Gen. Walter Krueger, now retired, she is serving her sentence in the Federal Reformatory for Women at Alderson, W. Va.

Gen. Krueger began proceedings in U. S. District Court in Charleston, W. Va., to win release of Mrs. Smith but Judge Ben Moore upheld the court-martial conviction. Moore said Congress had power to provide for military trial of civilians abroad.

Mrs. Covert's conviction was reversed on a technicality by the U. S. Court of Military Appeals here. She was awaiting a second trial by court-martial at Bolling Air Force Base here when U. S. Dist. Judge Edward A. Tamm ordered her release on bail. Tamm said civilians accompanying the armed forces abroad were not subject to military trial.

Committee Delays Bakers Union Probe

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee announced today a postponement until June 20 of further hearings on affairs of the Bakers Union.

Contempt of Congress trials of two high Teamsters Union officials, at which committee officials may testify, were given as the main reason for the postponement. The hearings had been scheduled to resume Thursday.

Wind Fails Mayflower II; Arrival Time Uncertain

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., June 10 (AP)—The wind failed today just when Mayflower II was within a day's sailing of port.

The effect was to make uncertain arrival time of the 180-ton wooden bark repeating the Pilgrims' voyage of 1620.

Today was Mayflower II's 52nd day out of Plymouth, England, and her proximity to her destination indicated she was outlasting her predecessor by a considerable margin. The original Mayflower required 66 days for the voyage.

Ashore, both here at Mayflower's first stopping place and across Cape Cod Bay at Plymouth, where the voyage ends, the change in weather was a sharp disappointment.

Provincetown, at the seagirt tip of Cape Cod, had expected the 92-foot craft by midday tomorrow.

Physicians Say Stomach Upset 'Mild'

Sudden Illness Not Related To Heart Attack, '56 Surgery

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—President Eisenhower took some semisolid food and was reported "coming along very well" tonight after a stomach upset which his doctors described as mild.

The President was stricken with nausea last night. He had two or three vomiting spells and was fed through a vein early this morning. But his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, reported the President "coming along very well" at 6:30 p. m.

Hagerty's report came after the President's three attending doctors, said in a joint statement about two hours earlier that Eisenhower was "making a good recovery."

The physicians found no indication that the stomach seizure was related to the heart attack suffered by the President in 1955. And Hagerty, asked if the doctors ruled out any connection with the intestinal disorder which forced the President to undergo surgery a year ago, replied: "I would think so."

Appointments Cancelled

"The President is coming along very well," Hagerty told reporters at an early evening news conference.

Hagerty said Eisenhower took a serving of milk toast at 5 p. m. This was his first substantial food since he complained of stomach distress early last evening, presumably because of eating blueberry pie or some other food that disagreed with him.

Hagerty also announced that no doctor would remain at the White House tonight. The President's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, lives about 10 minutes' drive away from the White House, to which his apartment is connected by a direct telephone line.

Eisenhower cancelled all his appointments for today and tomorrow but Hagerty said he didn't think the President would stay in bed throughout tomorrow.

Eisenhower's sudden illness—apparently from eating some food that disagreed with him—caused considerable concern in the light of his two serious illnesses in the past two years. Eisenhower was 66 last Oct. 14.

Selling Wave Hits Market

A heavy wave of selling hit the New York Stock Exchange upon the news of his illness. Later the market recovered most of its ground.

The 4:30 p. m. bulletin—Hagerty's third announcement of the day on the President's condition—said:

"The President is making a good recovery from his stomach upset."

"He has slept most of the afternoon without sedation or medication."

"He is now taking and retaining liquids by mouth. His pulse, temperature, respiration and blood pressure continue to be normal."

"The electrocardiogram (taken in midmorning to register heart performance) shows no change and he has had no cardiac symptoms."

"On the recommendation of the doctors the President's engagements for tomorrow have been cancelled to permit the President to complete his recovery."

Ship Flying Israeli Flag Travels Gulf

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—Israel today was reported to have sent a cargo ship of its own under the Star of David flag through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Three hostile Arab neighbors—Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan—are on the gulf but no shooting was reported.

Egypt had maintained a blockade of the gulf with guns on its own and Saudi soil for eight years to stop Israeli shipping. The blockade was lifted by Israel's invasion of Egypt last fall and Israel now is testing to determine whether it may be reimposed.

Israel also has been reported preparing a test of passage through the Egyptian - straddled Suez Canal, the other main water artery denied to Israel by the Arabs, but has not yet tried it.

The Israeli embassy in London declined to comment on the reported Aqaba passage. Asked about the report, The Associated Press in Jerusalem replied "unable to send from here." This usually means censorship is imposed.

The Daily Mail and the Daily Express said the 1,554-ton freighter Altit, flying the Israeli flag, sailed to Israel's port of Eilat at the head of the gulf. They gave no date.

The Altit is one of the ships Israel itself has said will be put into service in the gulf.

The press accounts said the Altit left Israel's port of Haifa two months ago, sailed around the Cape of Good Hope and picked up cargo for Eilat at African ports. The voyage around Africa measured about 12,000 miles.

To reach Eilat, the Altit would have to go through the Tiran Strait at the gulf's entrance, claimed as territorial water both by Saudi Arabia on the east shore and islands and Egypt on the west.

House Opens Way For Voting On Rights Bill

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—The House opened its third and final round of general debate on civil rights legislation today, opening the way for voting on the highly controversial measure.

In the Senate, Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) accused Southern foes of the legislation of filibustering in the Judiciary Committee. Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.), the committee chairman, denied the charge after a closed-door session at the disputed proposal.

"There is no filibuster," Eastland told reporters. "I think we have made progress and are effectively considering the bill."

Initial voting on the administration-backed proposal to protect voting rights of citizens may start in the House tomorrow if Southern opponents decide not to filibuster there. A final vote is scheduled for Thursday.

AP And CTU Agree To Extend Contract

NEW YORK, June 10 (AP)—Commissioner Walter Maggilo of the U.S. Mediation and Conciliation Service, announced today that the Associated Press and the Commercial Telegraphers Union had agreed to extend their contract until midnight Wednesday. The contract was due to expire at midnight tonight.

The federal service had summoned both parties to a meeting today in an effort to settle a wage dispute.

Maggilo said in a statement that at his request "the parties have agreed to extend their contract to midnight, Wednesday, June 12. A further meeting has been scheduled for 10:15 a.m. Tuesday at the office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service."

Maggilo said both parties agreed that he would speak for them. He said that neither side had changed its position.

Original demands by the CTU totaled $37 per week per man for a one-year contract. The union committee in negotiations reduced this to a package of $7 per week per man. The AP offered $3 per week per man.

12-Year-Old Boy Rescued After Tunnel Caves In

SALISBURY, Md., June 10 (AP)—Five schoolboys on summer vacation were digging a tunnel in a vacant lot here today when it caved in on one of them.

Twelve-year-old Bryan Washburn was under about 2½ feet of the sandy soil for several minutes before the father of another boy pulled him free and revived him with artificial respiration.

Peninsula General Hospital said the Washburn boy was in satisfactory condition later today, and had no specific injuries. Mrs. Washburn said her son could not move his arms or legs but she understood this was the result of the lack of oxygen.

The man who pulled the youngster from the tunnel was John S. Hudson, who owns an upholstery business. He and Mrs. Washburn told this story:

The boys with Bryan were Hudson's two sons, David, 9, and Stephen, 7; Jerry Williams, 10, and Jerry's 8-year-old brother, Tommy. Bryan had crawled into the tunnel to continue digging when the loose, moist earth collapsed.

Petition Asks Referendum On Hospital Loan Issue

ANNAPOLIS, June 10 (AP)—More than 400 Charles County residents have signed a petition asking for a referendum on a new state law which would authorize the county to borrow up to $400,000 for hospital construction.

The law, passed by the 1957 General Assembly, provides for financing the hospital bonds through property taxes. It was scheduled to go into effect June 1 but has been held up by the petition action.

The petition was filed with the secretary of state by Bennett Crain, Mt. Victoria attorney. It calls for referendum to be held on the matter at the 1958 general election.

To obtain a referendum, opponents of the bill must submit the signatures of 725 county voters, 10 per cent of the number who cast ballots for governor in the county.

The county's only hospital is the Physician's Hospital at La Plata.

Greatness Is Never Achieved Suddenly!

It has long been true, in the affairs of men, that only time can confirm the gift of greatness.

Artist, statesman, writer, craftsman—each must await the years for the maturity of his talent and for the verdict of his judges.

And as it is in the affairs of men, so it is in the world of commerce. Nothing great was ever created suddenly—whether the product be that of an individual or of an organization.

Here, most certainly, is the very genesis of the unique position which Cadillac currently occupies in the hearts and minds of the world's motorists.

Since the first Cadillac car made its appearance more than fifty-five years ago, it has always been created to a single objective: to make it as fine a motor car as it is possible to produce.

And, without question, the mission and the accomplishment have been one and the same.

The goodness of Cadillac has, in fact, been so apparent over that lengthy span that the Cadillac name stands today as an accepted synonym for quality wherever highways exist.

The pretenders have come—and they have gone. For time is an exacting taskmaster—and only the principles that have created the great Cadillac car and only the devotion that has given it being have been equal to the challenge.

Never has this fact been more deeply etched in the public consciousness than it is during the present automotive year.

If you have yet to take the wheel of a 1957 Cadillac, you should hesitate no longer to visit your authorized Cadillac dealer.

Waiting for you in his showroom is proof beyond doubt that Cadillac is—in fact as in reputation—the Standard of the World!

Cab Drivers Defended By 30 Award Winners

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP)—You rush through your food, you rush through everything. The minute the picture is over, everyone rushes out like there weren't any more cabs in the world. Always kindly and courteous. Not at all like they're usually pictured.

Sure, you get some rotten apples. What business doesn't? But if you think a cab driver isn't a first rate citizen, well, Mack, you had better keep your mouth shut when you're around the 30 cabbies who are here as winners of driver awards.

These awards are given each year by the Plymouth people, who peddle taxicabs and naturally yearn to sell many more. The drivers saw Vice President Nixon, other points of interest, and talked shop the whole time.

Mack, you should meet Harry Schweitzer. He's as bald as linoleum, and he's quite a character, and he's from Brooklyn.

New York cabbies have a bad name, and Harry is sorry.

"Everybody comes to New York full of mistrust," he said sadly. "Since the first thing they see is the cabbie, they mistrust him most of all."

"Ridiculous. He's married, has responsibilities. I tell you the drivers in New York are the finest in the land."

You may wonder about this, Mack. Don't they drive pretty fast in New York?

This Schweitzer will admit, but he blames it on the native habit.

"You know how it is in New York. Everybody is in a rush."

Sometimes only ten pounds makes the difference between a bony figure and the willowy slenderness every woman wants

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

Too-Too Thin

Nothing bores a man quicker than hearing a woman brag, "I eat like a bird." Eating is one of man's great pleasures, and he likes a companion that feels the same way about it.

Why does a girl broadcast her dislike of food? It's a very selfish attitude, for it spoils mealtime for all. Nothing will make a husband go home to mother faster than when his bride serves food as dull as her conversation about her diet. A poor cook plus a frustrating mealtime companion don't add up to happiness.

If you're one of those slim-janes with a can't eat problem, you had better take yourself in hand and determine to follow a new clear-cut routine. First, use the menus from our "Beauty Diet" to help you find the foods that will agree with you. Send 10 cents in coin to me, in care of this newspaper, for your copy, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

An Edge On Your Appetite

Start the day out right. A happy mood at breakfast will send your husband off in a better mood for the day. To put an edge on your appetite for mealtime, get up earlier so that you are not rushed; drink a glass of cool (not cold) water; breathe deeply before an open window. Take a brisk shower and rub-down. Dress fully. Eat your breakfast in a most leisurely and relaxed fashion. If you smoke, do so moderately after you have eaten—never before!

Before other meals, try to walk for 10 minutes in the fresh air. At least relax in a chair for 10 minutes. If you are preparing the meals, walk away from the kitchen long enough to groom your hair, add lipstick, and gain composure. Eat more slowly and chew your food more thoroughly. At each meal, try to eat a little more than you desire until you can comfortably take as much as other members.

Try to walk a mile each day. And, if possible take a nap every afternoon.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

German Prince May Claim Duke Of Cumberland Title

LONDON, June 10 (AP)—A German prince who fought with a German Panzer division in World War II today was reported seeking recognition as a British nobleman.

The Sunday Express said Prince Ernst of Hanover, 43-year-old grandson of Kaiser Wilhelm II, was preparing a petition to Queen Elizabeth II claiming the title of Duke of Cumberland.

The prince holds British nationality under a 250-year-old law granting citizenship to the House of Hanover—once the ruling house of England. Prince Ernst, who lives in Germany, holds German citizenship as well.

The dukedom of Cumberland, created in 1799 by George III, was removed from the Roll of Peers in 1919 when the holder, Prince Ernst's grandfather, fought against the Allies in the first world war. The way was left open for the duke's successor to petition for restoration under the Act of De-

His brother, Prince George, is married to Prince Philip's sister, Sophie.

When Prince Ernst married Princess Ortrud of Schleswig-Holstein in 1951 after World War II Britain's late King George VI loaned the bride a diadem from the crown jewels for the wedding. The British royal family—although invited—was not officially represented.

Prince Ernst, tall and dark, was educated at Oxford and is a close friend of Britain's royal family.

We use our phone as our bargain shopper

I'm a mother with three small children who are too young to be left alone. As a result, I can hardly ever find the time to go to a sale in person.

So I've made my phone my bargain shopper. And does it save me money!

Last month, for instance, I saved over $60 on a TV set. They were on sale but, as usual, I didn't have the time to go to the sale. I phoned the store and explained my situation. They were nice enough to send one out on trial, which we liked and bought.

We also use our phone to hunt for bargains, such as one-day sales on play clothes for the kids, gardening needs, many things a growing family uses.

Our telephone bargain-hunting savings are often small. But we believe they add up to enough so that our phone pays for itself—and we know our phone gives us more time to live our lives as we like.

Losing Bidder Seeks To Upset State Contract

BALTIMORE, June 10 (P)—A court trial by a losing bidder seeking to invalidate award of a contract for a State office building in Baltimore started today.

Judge Edwin Harlan is hearing the injunction suit brought against the State Board of Public Works and Blake Construction Co. of Washington, D. C.

Blake was awarded a contract for the 15-story building on Jan. 31 after bids by it and four other contractors all were turned down in December because they exceeded estimates.

The state board renegotiated only with Blake. This evoked a series of protests culminating in the court suit by the Terminal Construction Co. of New Jersey and Baltimore Contractors Inc.

Terminal and Baltimore contractors submitted a joint bid that was a close second to Blake's original proposal. They protested failure of the state to award the contract subject to competitive bidding.

James J. O'Donnell, director of public improvements, was called as a witness today by the protestants. He admitted under questioning that Hooper S. Miles, state treasurer, felt that since Blake was the initial low bidder it only should be given an opportunity to scale down its estimate.

Miles, Gov. McKeldin and State Treasurer Millard Taves comprise the Board of Public Works.

Protests over the contract award for which $11,825,000 is budgeted resounded in the Maryland Legislature early this year.

Missing Couple Reported Seen In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, June 10 (P)—A couple fitting the description of the daughter of a Swedish air attaché and a U.S. Senate page boy who are believed to have eloped were reported seen here yesterday.

Captain James E. Silvea of the Washington, D. C., police notified local police early today of a telephone call received by the girl's mother that the girl, Christine Wennerstrom, 16, and Huw Williams, 18, might have been here.

Silvea said George Augustus had telephoned Mrs. Stig Wennerstrom that a couple answering their description were seen here in a car bearing Virginia License plates near City Hall.

The two teenagers are believed to have eloped June 2 in a car belonging to the youth's mother, Mrs. Donna Lee Williams, of Falls Church, Va.

Court Is Asked To Kill Va. Pupil Placement Act

RICHMOND, Va., June 10 (P)—A Fairfax County mother whose two sons were dropped from public school petitioned the State Supreme Court today to hold Virginia's Pupil Placement Act unconstitutional.

Counsel for Mrs. Theo Defebio, in a mandamus petition filed with the court, declared the act violated both the State and federal constitutions. The mandamus action was resorted to in an effort to have Mrs. Defebio's two sons reinstated in the Fairfax schools without the mother signing the placement applications required by the Pupil Placement Board.

The Supreme Court gave attorneys for the respondents—the Fairfax School Board, the State Board of Education, and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction—ten days in which to file answers to the petition.

The three-member placement board was not named a respondent in the petition. Later, Mrs. Defebio's attorneys told the newsmen their position is that the board is an unconstitutional entity. The Supreme Court set mid-August as the deadline for the filing of briefs prior to oral arguments. This indicated there would be no decision until after the court's September term in Staunton.

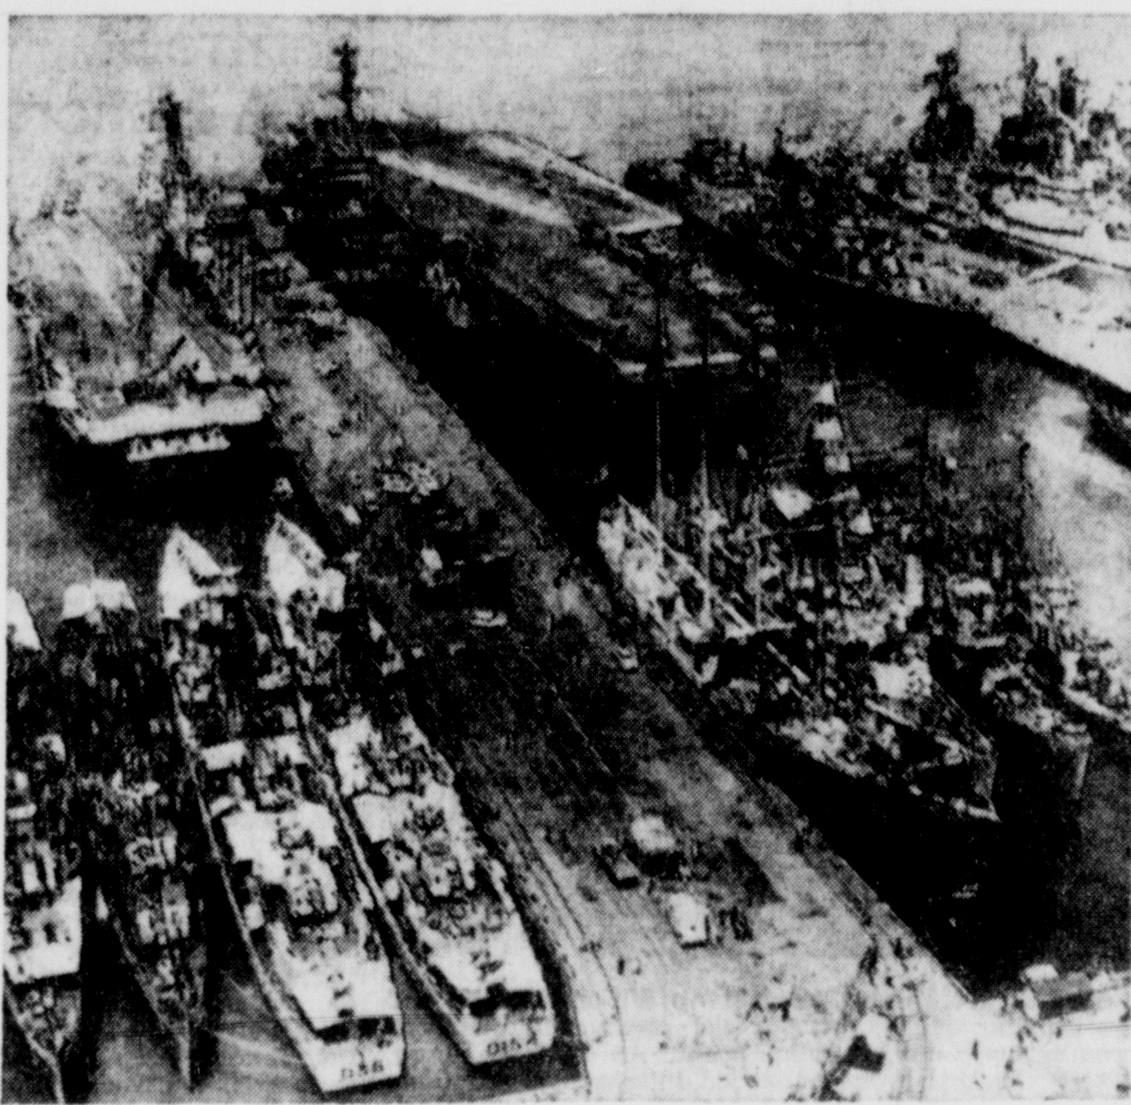

The petition was filed as the court met here today for its June term. At the conclusion of the June term the court will be in recess for the summer.

Counsel for Mrs. Defebio, C. Douglas Adams Jr. and Albert I. Kassabian, cited four grounds for their mandamus plea.

They contended the dismissal of the two Defebio boys because of the mother's refusal to sign the applications for placement "unlawfully deprives the infant plaintiffs of the rights to attend . . . public schools of Fairfax County, which rights are guaranteed by law."

They also contended the dismissal of the children from school forces them "to violate the Virginia compulsory school attendance laws."

6,000,000 Needy Persons Aided By Adventists

BALTIMORE, June 10 (P)—More than six million needy persons throughout the world received aid valued at 24 million dollars from the Seventh-day Adventist Church during 1956, an official said today.

David G. Fleagle, welfare and Sabbath school director of the Chesapeake Conference of Adventists, said the amount was a gain of more than 9½ million dollars over 1955.

The Baltimore church leader spoke at the annual summer Bible conference of Maryland-Delaware Adventists in suburban Catonsville.

Fleagle said 4,895,600 articles of clothing, 2,056,115 food baskets, and 6,077,203 hours by church members were given to the needy. The aid was dispensed by 4,374 local church welfare groups and 423 other welfare units, he said.

"The church recognizes the fact that it needs to look after the physical as well as the spiritual needs of the people," he said. Fleagle displayed to persons attending the 10-day meeting a new disaster truck which was purchased, equipped and manned by representatives of the church's welfare division.

The truck will be available for emergencies throughout Maryland. It will be based in Baltimore.

Action On Trailer Ordinance Delayed

A negative vote by Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday delayed passage for one week of an ordinance to prohibit use of house trailers as dwellings within the city limits.

The ordinance read at yesterday's meeting of the Mayor and Council, said that violation of its provisions would result in a fine of $10 and each day in which a trailer is in violation of the ordinance would be considered a separate offense.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long raised the point of investigating the possibility of a city-owned tract of land, or "motor court", which would provide a site for trailers and be a possible source of revenue. It was pointed out such a proposal had been suggested before and one contact made concerning a site. But the owner had indicated he was not interested in developing the land as a trailer court.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson raised the question about trailers placed on a permanent foundation and their status under tax ordinances. City Attorney Thomas B. Finan pointed out that assessments are the responsibility of the county. He said the apparent real problem is not taxation but the fact that in some areas where trailers move in, other permanent properties are devaluated. This occurs even though some trailers are very lavish, he added.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said he believed the city should discourage trailers.

Ogle, who has been associated with the court since 1908, succeeded Young's father as clerk in November, 1942.

A Tribute To Our Flag!

"Three cheers for the Red, White and Blue." When we sing those stirring words at home, at school, as a parade passes, or whatever the occasion, let's pay more than merely lip service to the Grand Old Flag! Poems have been written for Old Glory. Statesmen have eulogized its immortality. Soldiers on battlefields throughout the world have died for it. It flies majestically night and day over the White House. It is the blessed Flag of Freedom and stands for all the things we hold dearest. Honor the Flag that is the signature of our country and fly it proudly in your heart!

Board To View Recording Fees For Education

KEYSER—The Mineral County Board of Education will hold its regular meeting in the Keyser High School vo-ag classroom adjoining the school bus garage just south of Keyser at 7:30 p. m. June 18 for the purpose of considering the enactment of an ordinance imposing a fee on the recording of deeds and other instruments of transfer.

County Superintendent of Schools S. T. McGee said the meeting would be open to the public if anyone wanted to speak for or against the proposed ordinance.

The ordinance was made possible through action at the recent session of the Legislature, which permits boards of education to impose a fee of $2.20 for each valuation of $500 on the recording of deeds and mortgages transferring title to real and personal property offered for filing and recording in the Mineral County clerk's office.

Assistant Superintendent E. M. Welshance said it was estimated that the new tax would bring in about $12,000 annually. He said this would far from meet the new increase in teachers' salaries recently granted by the board, which will amount to $25,000 annually.

Flood Control Pumping Units Are Progressing

Work Is Expedited In Bed Of Creek

Progress is being made on the construction of three pumping stations needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control program.

The exterior of the Ridgeley pumping station is virtually complete, brick work on the Mill Race station is near completion and progress is being made on the Viaduct pumping station, according to Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers.

The first two units are being built by the George Construction Company here for the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago, which holds contracts for all three units.

Inside the structures will be powerful pumps to force surface water over the walls and levees when the Potomac River and Wills Creek rise above flap gates which normally allow the storm water to escape by gravity.

They will also include structures which will prevent sanitary sewage from flooding the city's sewage treatment plant when the streams go on a rampage.

Albrecht crews are excavating the channel of the Potomac River in the vicinity of Smith Island and are clearing brush from the west side of the river for work on Section 2 of the river phase of the work.

Hazelwood Construction Company crews, Mr. Dexter said, are making good progress in Wills Creek, both below and above the Baltimore Street Bridge.

He said the work in that area will be under control if no high water arrives within the next few days.

Attorneys Settle Suit For $234

The child was injured May 26 while riding in an automobile along State Route 36 near Mt. Savage, which was being driven by her mother, Mrs. Anna Marie Thompson. Her car was struck by an automobile driven by Shirley McGregor and owned by George McGregor. The settlement was signed by Morris Baron, attorney for the Thompsons, and Donald W. Mason, attorney for the defendants.

Pumping Station Goes Up

Construction of the building for the East Ridgeley pumping station seen here is practically complete. The station, one of three needed for the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project, is being built by the George Construction Company under a sub-contract for the E. J. Albrecht Company. The stations will pump surface water over the walls and levees when the Potomac River and Wills Creek are on the rampage, but will not be needed when streams are short of flood stage.

Only Red Tape Separates Mrs. Smith From Liberty

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10.—Only the legal red tape now stands between Mrs. Dorothy Krueger Smith and freedom.

Legal sources here were uncertain how long the process of carrying out today's mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States might require, but they felt at most it would take only a few days.

At Alderson, W. Va., where Mrs. Smith has been serving a life term at the Federal Reformatory for Women, Warden Nina Kinsella said she had not received word from any official source concerning the Supreme Court action. She said she would have to receive an order which would withdraw the one confining Mrs. Smith.

The warden said she had not talked with Mrs. Smith, but commented, "it looks good for somebody," on the basis of hearing the Supreme Court decision through The Associated Press.

The Supreme Court in Washington reversed a previous stand in deciding 6-2 today that civilians who accompany the armed forces overseas are not subject to military trial for crimes committed abroad.

Mrs. Smith, one of two women directly affected by today's ruling, was convicted in Tokyo for the fatal stabbing of her husband, Col. Aubrey D. Smith.

John C. Morrison, Charleston attorney, who was associate counsel for Mrs. Smith when her habeas corpus case was in U. S. District Court here, said today he was highly gratified by the Supreme Court's ruling.

Damaged Fire Engine Is Given Trial Run

A test run yesterday evening indicated the 85-foot hook and ladder truck which was damaged in a collision on North Mechanic Street on Sunday was ready for emergency use, Chief Virgil A. Parker of the Cumberland Fire Department said last night.

Workmen repaired the engine's badly damaged radiator and tested the motor and hydraulic system in the trial run from Central Fire Station. The truck's front bumper and grille still must be replaced and the dented right fender repaired, but the chief indicated that the truck can respond to any emergency now.

Vets' Widows May File Now For Benefits

Over 20,000 widows of veterans of the 114,000 widows receiving compensation for the service-connected deaths of their husbands before January 1, 1957, may lose money unless they apply for the higher death compensation payments by July 1.

Benjamin Flack, local Veterans Administration representative, said yesterday.

The Veterans Administration, which released the information through Mr. Flack, said over 80,000 widows have already applied for higher payments.

VA originally estimated that

Those who apply for the new benefit but who would receive more under the old laws will be advised by VA against the wrong choice of payment.

VA said widows who do not apply for the new benefit will continue to receive death compensation at the same rate as in the past, even though they may be eligible for the increased payments.

Mr. Flack said full information after July 1 will find that the higher payments will become effective as of the day the application is received, VA explained.

New Methodist District Superintendent Named

WESTMINSTER (AP)—Rev. Dr. Paul F. Warner, minister of Baltimore's Eutaw Methodist Church, has been appointed Hagerstown District Superintendent for the Baltimore Conference.

Dr. Warner, minister, missionary to Japan and professor during his career, will succeed Dr. Harry C. Marsh, who is retiring. Dr. Eugene C. Woodward previously was announced to succeed Dr. Marsh but cannot serve because of illness and will take one year's sabbatical leave.

Appointment of Dr. Warner was among 68 new assignments among the more than 350 ministerial appointments announced Sunday at the conclusion of the 173rd annual Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Church.

The conference embraces churches in Washington, all of Maryland west of Chesapeake Bay and the three easternmost counties of West Virginia. The meeting was attended by some 700 delegates evenly divided between laymen and the clergy.

The final day also included a service at which Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam delivered the sermon.

REV. DR. PAUL F. WARNER

and the formal ordination of 28 elders and 22 deacons.

Bishop Oxnam urged the Methodists to continue studying racial problems, saying: "You can't build the kingdom of God upon unjust economic and social practices."

City Will Sell Flood Tracts To Government

The Mayor and Council yesterday authorized Mayor Roy W. Eves to execute options and deeds in favor of the federal government in connection with land obtained by the city for flood control purposes.

The four orders, involving 48 areas within the city and Ridgeley, will become effective upon payment by the government to the city of a total of $4,633.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan explained the tracts are "mostly in Wills Creek," which led Commissioner William H. Buchholtz to observe "In other words, we are deeding Wills Creek to the government."

Under existing flood control agreements, the city is responsible for maintaining the areas in question.

Two Face Trial In Morals Case

Two more young men will be tried today in Circuit Court on statutory rape charges involving two 13-year-old Corriganville girls in recent months.

They are John Joseph Riley, 18, of Corriganville, and Wilbert Gordon Lavin, 23, of Mt. Savage.

On May 31 a group of 14 other young men involved with the same girls were arraigned in Circuit Court. They entered guilty pleas before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and are in the county jail awaiting sentence.

City To Retain Qualifications For Police

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday he is opposed to Civil Service recommendations which would lower requirements for policemen.

At the same time he proposed that the commission, in the next three examinations, grade applicants one-third for appearance, one-third for character and one-third on an oral examination of their knowledge of the city and traffic. Keegan added that he accepted the Civil Service recommendation that the city pay the $2 medical examination fee which the applicant has had to pay in the past.

Council approved Keegan's motion that requirements not be lowered. The commission had recommended charter change which would lower the high school requirement from two years to one year. It had also asked that height requirements be lowered from 5 feet 10 inches to 5 feet 9 inches.

Keegan said he hoped that his proposals would bring out more applicants for police jobs.

On another police action, Glenn Dale Kerr was named a temporary patrolman effective June 8 at a salary of $260 a month. The action was taken, Keegan said, in the absence of a Civil Service eligible list for the position.

Council also received a letter from the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association reviewing its request for a wage increase about two months ago and requesting another meeting at which council would be expected to give its decision. There was no comment from council on the letter.

A number of seasonal recreation employees were approved but the question was raised by Finance Commissioner Long whether council could approve such appointments without a Recreation Board which must recommend them under the existing recreation ordinance.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said he would check the ordinance. The Recreation Board in recent weeks resigned individually. A specific cause was council's failure to act on a proposed consolidation of the parks and recreation departments.

The seasonal employees approved follow:

City League umpires at $3 a game, Francis D. Michaels, Raymond G. Frantz, Joseph E. Geatz, Victor N. Reynolds, Charles G. Zimmerman, James J. Mason, Joseph H. Wagner and George Schoenadel.

Appeal Is Filed In Corriganville Property Award

The State Roads Commission yesterday filed an appeal in Circuit Court from the decision of the Allegany County Board of Property Review in awarding George C. and Margaret E. DeHaven, Corriganville, the sum of $10,377 for property being used in relocating the Mt. Savage Road.

Attorneys for the SRC are William C. and William Walsh. The state offered $7,400 for the property and feels the award by the Review Board was excessive.

The DeHavens own a tavern in Corriganville and the new highway will traverse land in the rear of the tavern.

Meanwhile, Chief Judge George Henderson has scheduled a pre-trial conference tomorrow in the suit brought by Mrs. Genevieve Yonker Schaffer against the SRC in connection with the use of property owned by her atop Polish mountain.

The state is relocating and modernizing U. S. Route 40 from the top of the west side of the mountain.

Mrs. Schaffer, who is an attorney, will be her own counsel while William C. Walsh and Frederick A. Puderbaugh will represent the state.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, June 10 (INS)—Off hand, it would be hard to name a political figure who has taken more of a beating from both sides of the fence than Harold Stassen has absorbed over nearly the past decade.

Yet he is now handling, and with a good deal of sovereignty, one of the most momentous deliberations of our time, the disarmament talks held under UN auspices in London. He has the complete trust of President Eisenhower despite the fact that his chances of assuming high office are now remote to the point of nonexistence.

Many of Mr. Eisenhower's other friends in the party were for riding Gov. Stassen out on a rail when he spearheaded the move to dump Dick Nixon last summer. But not the President. Stassen went back to work in the administration the moment his tiger, Christian Herter, bowed out of the race for the vice presidential nomination.

Stassen insists he was not put up to waging his highly indecisive war against Nixon. We have no documentation to disprove his point. But almost every sign since that trial balloon was launched points to an "understanding."

The President apparently played no active role in the maneuver, but it's too much to suggest that it was done completely without his knowledge and tacit cognizance. He had at least three opportunities in press conferences to knock the whole thing through the skylight, but studiously refrained.

There's no doubt that Stassen personally was wholeheartedly in favor of such a switch. He kept punching away long after the whole thing had dissolved in the public's memory, by suggesting that if his word had been taken, and Herter elected, Ike would not have lost both houses of Congress in '56.

It might be that Stassen will head up the anti-Nixon forces in '60. He needs a more important springboard than he now possesses—or at least one more closely allied to politics. Hence the effort to become governor of Pennsylvania, a drive that has aroused widespread disinterest in that state.

Few men have come as close to the presidency, and missed, as Stassen.

If Tom Dewey's laryngitis had not been almost miraculously cured by an obscure Oregon doctor in 1948, the then governor of New York would have had to default in the now historic radio debate with Stassen on whether the American Communist Party should be outlawed. That default, coming on top of Stassen's triumphs in several state primaries immediately preceding, and his exalted position in the popularity polls, probably would have given him the 1948 GOP nomination.

And chances are that he would have beaten Mr. Truman. He was younger, had a colorful World War II record, was much more popular in labor circles than Dewey, and more popular among the young voters.

But Dewey got his voice back, easily won the debate, and went on to the nomination, then to overconfident defeat and his subsequent role in the nomination and victory of Gen. Eisenhower. Stassen still had a keen appetite to run in 1952. When Ike was playing hard to get, at SHAPE, he went there to ask him point blank what were his intentions, and came back to run himself.

We've always wondered why Joe Martin, who was handling the gavel at the 1952 convention at Chicago, chose Stassen among all other heads of state delegations to put Ike over the top at the end of the first ballot. The general lacked only a few votes to gain the majority that would defeat Taft. Seemingly every chairman—with the notable exception of Earl Warren, who controlled the California delegation—wanted to be the one. Joe called on Stassen—and Ike was in.

Anyway, here is the man called Childe Harold doing real important in government nine full years after his first great crushing defeat. Other defeats have followed, but at London he speaks for the hearts and minds of the greatest nation in history, and he seems to be making inching progress.

Lebanese Elections: A Test Of The West

The national elections in Lebanon that began on Sunday tested the position of the West throughout the Middle East. The present Lebanese government of premier Sami es-Solh is considered pro-West, and foreign minister Charles Malik has put Lebanon behind the Eisenhower Doctrine.

A defeat for the Government would be considered a victory for those forces within Lebanon that look for leadership to Nasser of Egypt. It would similarly be a feather in the cap for neighboring Syria, springboard for Communist pressures in the Arab world.

Lebanon is the smallest of the countries in the Arab League, but has probably the highest standard of living and education. It flourished after getting virtual autonomy from Turkey almost 100 years ago, built schools, roads, vacation resorts. The economy was helped by remittances from Lebanese who had settled and prospered in other lands, including the United States.

Beirut, the capital, is a modern city with plush hotels, an elaborate airport, attractive shops, entertainment spots patronized by oil-rich Arab sheiks, and an American-supported university of high standards and much influence. Lebanon is the terminal of pipelines from Iraq and Saudi Arabia. It was a French mandate under the League of Nations for 20 years, and French is widely spoken.

A slight majority of the people are Christians, in general apt to support the Government's pro-Western policy, while Lebanese Moslems incline to be pro-Nasser and perhaps pro-Syria. The Government recently put down vigorously a violent demonstration against it, but did agree to take steps to assure a fair and free election. But the elections had hardly begun Sunday when new violence broke out. The voting, with or without further violence, will continue through the rest of June.

The FBI Files

It is not only a matter of FBI files that Mr. Justice Brennan put in peril, but all police files and all police activities, because it is upon files that law-enforcement agencies have to depend to catch criminals, files that are sometimes hearsay and heavily larded with gossip out which also contain the matter that sends a murderer and a kidnapper to his just reward.

These files contain data which cannot be disclosed even to win a case. Take for instance the Vic Riesel case, about which everybody knows. He was blinded by a hood who did not know him from Adam, who followed a finger which selected Riesel for blinding with acid. The hood was found dead but he had associates. Some of those associates were tried and sentenced. Others got off because the witnesses clammed up.

If any sitting judge believes that the police just went out and picked up the associate acid throwers, he has another thought coming to him. It took work, going through files, making connections, finding somebody who, in the parlance of the hoods, would sing and who would sing a song that could be put before a judge and jury without disclosing the singer. Those who tell must be protected or the law-enforcement agencies had better close up shop and forget all about murderers, sex deviates, kidnappers and other horrors who beset our lives. Open the files of every police department in the country to every sly lawyer who works for a hood and we might as well hand law-enforcement over to Lucky Luciano and let him run the show.

Justice Brennan may be a wonderful liberal who believes ardently in the rights of the criminals to full protection of their constitutional rights, but it is also necessary to protect the citizens in their constitutional rights and surely one right to life and liberty is for children to go to and from school without being murdered by sex deviates or other human curiosities, a type of crime that is on the increase.

Granted that the police of the nation cannot meet the increase in crime with the manpower and facilities that are available to them, but to open their files would leave them utterly helpless. As Justice Brennan's decision was reported, the impression was given that it applied only to the FBI, but once the law is established that it is a citizen's right to have his lawyer look at the data upon which an indictment is based in a criminal case and a conviction sought, the rule will be applied universally in every court and in every jurisdiction.

The rule has been followed that when the judge requires it, the file upon which the case is based may be shown to the judge to establish that there are no factual inconsistencies. In the Jencks case, such a file was offered to the sitting judge which he declined to see, preferring the testimony taken in his court, under oath, and upon which Jencks was convicted.

Many liberal-minded persons, concentrating on a comparatively few Communist cases, come up with ideas for liberalizing the law so that it becomes more difficult to convict. What they seem to forget is that in our system of jurisprudence no distinction is made between one type of criminal and another. There is no law for political criminals, such a law only being possible in a police state like Soviet Russia is now and Hitler's Germany was.

Therefore when a rule is handed down which makes it possible for one kind of person who had been indicted for a felony to gain certain benefits, that rule applies equally to all indicted for felonies. Thus the Fifth Amendment is used by Dave Beck Jr., as it is used by a Communist or by the wife of an acid thrower.

And the rule that a lawyer may have a look at the files of the law-enforcement agency will be used not only to give the defendant every advantage but to give a lawyer a chance to get data against prospective witnesses and to blackmail informants. There are lawyers who do such things when they get a chance.

Mr. Justice Brennan of New Jersey, now on the Supreme Court of the United States, has written a decision which gives a blow to law-enforcement at a time of increased crime.

The Democrats: Army With Nobody To Fight

WASHINGTON

By Stewart Alsop

Those two able Texans, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, are beginning to look like the commanders of a large, well-disciplined Army which has nowhere to go and no-one to fight.

Johnson and Rayburn, in their leadership of the Democrats, have made two assumptions. First, the conservative Republicans who are in revolt against the Eisenhower budget are not to be allowed to monopolize the economy issue. Second, it is more important to hold the Democratic party in a semblance of unity than to stir up trouble or make issues against the Eisenhower administration.

These two assumptions have been largely accepted by the bulk of the Democrats in both Houses. Moreover, they are, on the face of them, logical assumptions. Yet they involve certain risks which may be a lot graver than they appear on the surface.

In the first place, the only area in which to make a politically palatable record for "economy" is the area of national security—defense, and, to a lesser extent, foreign aid. Hence the party-line vote by the House Democrats, engineered by Speaker Rayburn, cutting the President's defense budget by $2.5 billion.

Part of the cut may be restored in the Senate. But the present best guess is that the increase will be relatively minor—perhaps as little as a tenth of the total cut. Now consider the price the Democrats are likely to pay for making their economy record.

In the first place, it has automatically transformed President Eisenhower into the last-ditch defender of the security interests of the United States. This is a position to which the President's personal history uniquely suits him, and it is in any case always a strong position for any President.

Yet the Democrats themselves—principally Sen. Stuart Symington in his air power investigation last year—have conclusively demonstrated that the American security position relative to the Soviets has rapidly deteriorated under the Eisenhower Presidency. It is true that, in the present national mood of complacency, nobody (except Arthur Godfrey) seems to care very much. Even Symington himself has been talking a lot more about cutting taxes and the budget than about the need to match the Soviet defense advances.

But the national mood might very well change, since the world situation has a way of changing suddenly and in such a way as to drive home the realities in a most painful way. In that case, the Democrats will have kicked the defense issue—which was always potentially their strongest issue—right down the drain. What is more, the Republicans need only cite the roll call vote in the House to shift the whole burden of blame onto the Democrats.

And where else are the Democrats to turn for an issue? The school construction bill is dead as a mackerel for this session, and so, in any effective form at least, is civil rights legislation. Both are politically important for Northern Democrats, and yet the Republicans will be able to claim, with some reason, that both bills were killed by the Democrats.

Housewives Should Watch Voting On New Natural Gas Measure

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — This week the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee begins voting on a bill which will add about $950,000,000 to the gas bill of housewives. It's the much-discussed, much-lobbied natural gas bill which Ike vetoed last year after a lobbyist for Superior Oil tried to give $2,500 to Senator Case of South Dakota.

This year the bill is being piloted by a genial, slow-talking gentleman from Arkansas, Rep. Oren Harris, a close friend of public utility mogul Sam Moses of Arkansas Power, who once presented Mrs. Harris with a batch of nylons when nylons were scarce. Harris recently acquired a 25 per cent interest in station KIRBB-TV in El Dorado, Ark., for only $5,000 — probably the year's best television bargain. As Chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee he sits in judgment on the FCC which hands out TV license.

The gentleman from Arkansas is no corn-pone Congressman. He is as shrewd as he is affable. There are several things to watch as he wields the gavel inside the Committee on the natural gas bill. One is whether he waits for Rep. Charles Wolverton of Camden, N. J., ranking Republican on the Committee, to return from Europe. Wolverton led the fight against the gas bill last year. He won't return until June 14.

Another thing to watch is any whispering between Harris and Congressman Sam Friedel, the Baltimore Democrat who, by moving to reconsider last year, permitted the bill to get out of committee. Baltimore will pay several million dollars extra if the gas bill passes. Yet, despite a bawling out from Baltimore's Mayor D'Allesandro, Friedel last year played into the hands of the gas lobby.

Mayors Get Run-Around

The public, and even most Congressmen, have not known how skillfully Harris has maneuvered the gas bill before his Committee; how adroitly he has suppressed testimony by the mayors of the nation's largest cities.

Harris told the mayors they could testify during the week of May 14, but refused to name specific days and hours. So Mayor Charles Taft of Cincinnati, brother of the late Senator from Ohio, came to Washington, cooled his heels in the Committee room. Finally he approached Harris.

"I can only be in town for today," said Mayor Taft. "I'd appreciate it if you could give me some time."

"I'm sorry," replied Harris, "but unfortunately I'm unable to grant your request because so many people are ahead of you."

Mayor Taft returned to Cincinnati without testifying.

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City was also stalled off. Representing 8,000,000 New Yorkers who don't want their gas bills raised, Wagner was considered the most dramatic witness against the gas bill. Harris knew this. Maybe that was why he stalled Wagner.

After repeated urging, Harris finally agreed on a time when Wagner could testify. Significantly Harris made it an afternoon when the House was expected to vote on the $36,000,000 defense budget.

The night before Wagner's scheduled appearance, Harris sent the mayor a telegram telling him not to come. The defense budget would be up for amendment on the House floor, he said, and the rules required Committee members to be there. The Committee hearing was canceled.

The excuse was phony. On the same day six important House committees held meetings, namely Foreign Affairs, Merchant Marine, Rules, Ways and Means, Joint Atomic Energy, and the Conference Committee on the Commerce Budget.

On the House floor, Harris uttered just 131 words regarding the defense bill — to ask that the Army and Navy General Hospital in Hot Springs, Ark., not be closed. For this the appearance of the Mayor of New York was canceled.

They Got Favored

In contrast, lobbyists for gas companies got favored treatment.

Randall Le Boeuf, attorney for Consolidated Edison of New York, had a special committee meeting setting up on May 20 when none had been scheduled. He said he was due in court on May 21, so Harris went out of his way to get his testimony.

On the other hand, when Reps. John Heseltin (R-Mass.) and Torbert Macdonald (D Mass.) wanted to cross-examine John Heyke, a lobbyist for the bill, Harris arranged for Heyke to get out of town.

Heyke represents the Brooklyn Union Gas Company and had worked behind closed doors with a secret group of natural gas executives to draw up parts of the Harris bill. But when the two Massachusetts Congressmen wanted to question him, Harris got Heyke out of the way by accepting his written statement at 7 o'clock on the evening of May 22, when only Harris and Rep. William H. Avery (R-Kan.) were left in the Committee room.

Two days later Heseltin and Macdonald discovered this, protested, and Heyke was finally called back on June 3.

That's how skillful Chairman Harris was in trying to pass a bill which will cost housewives almost $950,000,000.

Mailbag

Dabney White, Greensboro, N. C. — Despite the sincere convictions of the Rev. David Andrews in contributing $121.51 of his tax money to the UN Children's Fund, and refusing to pay it for national defense and war, I am afraid the Treasury cannot possibly let him do this. When former Gov. Bracken Lee of Utah withheld part of his taxes because tax money went for foreign aid, the Treasury ruled against him. Under our form of government, we have to abide by majority rule. The alternative is anarchy and chaos.

Readers Ask--And Answer--Some Questions

A Rhode Island reader is sold on natural childbirth. She has had two children by this method and two by the more conventional method and is convinced that much can be done to alleviate the ignorance and fear of childbirth. She believes that a greater appreciation of the beauty of the event can be encouraged if women would look upon pregnancy and childbirth as a gratifying experience. She writes:

"The realization that your child is coming into this world, and the sound of his first cry, are so rewarding it is difficult to recall the discomfort that preceded it." Natural childbirth has many advocates. The pregnant woman is given a liberal education in obstetrics and is taught to assist to the fullest extent in the birth of her child. I say this with reservations, however, because it is not always successful and when this happens, the mother may be disappointed.

We received several letters from individuals who were bothered by irritation of the skin beneath a seal or signet ring. Soap or detergent collects in the space under the ring, which leads to irritation in some instances. Metal is responsible in others and occasionally the chemical reaction between soap and metal plays a role.

If the cleansing agent is responsible, relief is obtained by removing the ring before washing the hands, and rinsing and drying the skin thoroughly. If the metal is the culprit the ring can be coated with plastic, which is temporary, or silver-plated for a permanent finish. A new ring also solves the problem and best results are obtained with no ring.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Dick Jones tells about a dog who loved country sausages. When he begged hard enough, his mistress wrote out an order for a few, and the dog grasped it between his jaws, and trotted off to the butcher's with it.

In time, the butcher took the dog's appearance as a matter of course, and counted off a half dozen sausages without even consulting the order the dog dropped at his feet. When the dog arrived one day for the fourth time, however, the butcher made an interesting discovery. The paper was absolutely blank. Wise old Towser, whenever a craving for sausages overtook him, simply snatched up any piece of paper in sight and waltzed off to the butcher's with it.

Hodges Leads National Loop Batting Race

Gains 25 Points, Musial Is Second

NEW YORK, June 10 (P)—Willie Gil Hodges of the St. Louis Cardinals drew the most votes for the major league All-Star game among National League first basemen.

These two have turned in outstanding performances and as the 1957 campaign approaches the one-third mark, they are waging a spirited competition for their circuit's batting lead.

Brooklyn's Hodges, 32, moved up from seventh place in last week's games. His pacesetter average is .363, representing a 25 point gain. Gil collected 13 hits in 25 times at bat.

Musial, 35 and a six-time batting champ with the St. Louis Cardinals, is in second place with .358. He lost one point.

Race Is Close

The race is a close one with only 37 points separating the first 10 batsmen. Dick Groat of Pittsburgh, sidelined with a sprained ankle, is third with .352. He's followed by Dee Fondy of the Pirates with .349 and Ed Bailey of Cincinnati with .333. Fondy was the leader a week ago, but he slumped 23 points from .372 with a 6-for-27 showing.

In the American League, Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox remained on top despite a 16 point drop to .391. The 38-year-old slugger had only four safeties in 16 tries.

Fox Is Runner-Up

Nellie Fox of the league-leading Chicago White Sox is in the runner-up position at .362. He climbed five points. Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees increased his average 11 points to .354, good for third place. Then come Bob Cey of Kansas City, .345 and Bob Borch of Baltimore with .329. Borch picked up 22 points and zoomed up from 10th place.

Mantle, the triple crown kingpin of 1956, took over the junior circuit's home run lead with 14. Roy Sievers of Washington continues to set the pace in runs batted in with 40.

Hank Aaron of Milwaukee is the National League's home run leader with 15 while Musial has the most RBIs, 45.

In 13 All-Star Games

Musial, who shows a lifetime mark of .340, has appeared in 13 All-Star games. Hodges, with .276 average for 10 big league seasons, has appeared in five All-Star contests.

This year's "dream" game is scheduled to be played in St. Louis on July 9.

Pastrano, Harris Fight At Houston

HOUSTON, Tex., June 10 (P)—Willie Pastrano, a 2-1 favorite, and Roy Harris took only light workouts today as ticket sales approached $40,000, a Houston record, for their scheduled 10-round heavyweight boxing match at Sam Houston Coliseum tomorrow night.

A crowd of about 7,000 is expected. The gate already is above $30,000, compared to a Houston record $23,200 paid for the Harris-Bob Baker fight a month ago when the Texan won a split decision.

Pastrano's professional record of 41-4-5 includes eight knockouts. Harris also has had 8 knockouts while winning 20 straight fights since becoming a pro.

Harris and Pastrano will meet for the first time at noon tomorrow at weigh-in ceremonies.

Cards of Thanks

We desire to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved aunt, Mrs. Martha L. Turner. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers, and the ladies of the Eastern Star and Shepherd Lodges for the services they conducted.

Jury Indicts Van Horn For Wife's Murder

Six Witnesses Give Testimony

TOWSON, Md., June 10 (AP)—Robert Jett Van Horn, lumber executive and prominent club man, was indicted on a charge of murder by the Baltimore County grand jury late today in the slaying of his wife June 1.

The body of his wife, Bernice, 53-year-old socialite, was found down an embankment of a road under construction. Authorities have said she died from a massive crushing of her chest that broke every rib in her body and induced severe bleeding.

The charge against Van Horn, 52, was the first considered by the grand jury today. Seven policemen had been summoned to appear but only six were called by State's Attorney Frank H. Newell III.

Arrest Recounted

Officers appearing before the jury were Inspector E. William Ensor; Capt. William Powers, in charge of the county's central police district; Capt. Elmer F. Adams, head of the detective bureau; Detective Lts. Edmer L. Story and Ross B. Gagliano, and Patrolmen Edward Schaffer and James A. Rich. All but Lt. Gagliano testified.

Patrolmen Schaffer and Rich were in a police radio car which spotted the Van Horn station wagon parked on the highway site and decided to investigate. Van Horn held police at bay almost an hour, before being arrested, while threatening to take his own life.

Van Horn, held without bail in Baltimore County Jail, waived preliminary hearing last Tuesday. He has admitted arguing with his wife following a Saturday night party June 1.

Assistant Medical Examiner William V. Lovitt, who performed an autopsy on Mrs. Van Horn, has said her injuries might have been caused by an automobile and "could also have been caused by her being stomped and kicked."

Body Found Near Road

Police said they found blood and strands of hair in the bark of a tree at the Van Horns' country home, "Evergreen Farms," on the Falls Road about a mile north of Shawan.

The body was found beside the uncompleted Baltimore-Harrisburg, Pa., expressway.

Van Horn, president of the Sierra Lumber Co. in South Baltimore, is the son of Charles W. Van Horn, retired vice president for operations and maintenance of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. He formerly lived in Cumberland.

Six Compete In LaVale Vote

Names of the six candidates for the LaVale Zoning Board will appear alphabetically on the four voting machines on which the qualified voters of Election District 29 will vote Tuesday, June 18.

The candidates, alphabetically listed, are Leslie J. Clark, C. Arthur Lancaster, James E. Robertson, John J. Rowan, Charles A. Smith and W. William Yoder. All six qualified by filing petitions containing the names of at least 20 qualified voters of Election District 29, which embraces the LaVale area, before midnight Saturday. Mr. Smith was the last, and he filed about 9:30 p. m. Saturday.

The Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, which will supervise the special referendum, reported that supplies for the special election will be delivered to the proper authorities Saturday.

Voters will first decide whether they want zoning as was authorized by the General Assembly in Annapolis. They then will elect three men to constitute the Zoning Board if zoning is approved.

Last night about 40 persons attended the bi-monthly meeting of the board of directors of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, where some questions concerning zoning and the forthcoming referendum were answered. The meeting was held at LaVale Fire Hall.

Gilbert P. Bohn, association president, answered several questions asked by William A. Douglas, who had been unable to attend previous meetings at which the zoning plan was discussed.

Four of the six candidates for the zoning board were among those present. They included Messrs. Lancaster, Rowan, Smith and Yoder.

Two Young Teachers Named Principals Of Public Schools In Allegany County

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster yesterday announced the appointment of two young teachers as school principals beginning with the 1957-58 term in September.

Joseph H. Pellerzi, 30, of 517 Linden Street, a science teacher at Fort Hill High School, was named principal of the 12-year Oldtown School, which runs from the first grade through senior high school. He will succeed J. Hubert Radcliffe, who will become principal of the 12-year Mt. Savage School.

Raymond Skidmore, 36, of 173 West Main Street, Frostburg, was appointed the first principal of the new Northeast Elementary School on Valley Road, which will open for the first time in September.

Mr. Pellerzi was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1945. The next two years he served in the Air Corps as a cryptographer. After his discharge he enrolled at Frostburg State Teachers College, where he was a student leader. He was graduated in 1951.

After one year on the faculty of Cresapton Junior High School, Mr. Pellerzi was transferred to Fort Hill, where he has taught science for five years. He also was an assistant football coach at Fort Hill. During his summers he studied at Columbia University in New York where he completed the requirements for a master's degree in school administration in the summer of 1955.

The new Oldtown School principal has been an officer and board member in the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and is a member of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers' Association. He is secretary of the Church Council of St. Luke's Lutheran Church and is married to the former Kathryn Schade. They have an 18-month-old daughter.

Mr. Skidmore was graduated from Allegany High School in 1938 and from Frostburg State Teachers College in 1952. Between his high school and college days he served two years in the Navy and worked at Celanese. He is now working toward his master's degree at the University of Maryland.

Since 1952, Mr. Skidmore has been a sixth grade teacher at West Side School in Cumberland. He is president of the Allegany County Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, International.

Married to the former Nadine Taylor of Cumberland, he is the father of a 16-year-old son, who will be a senior at Beall High School in September. The Skidmores belong to the Lutheran Church in Frostburg.

Sewage Plant Project Enters Final Stage

Construction Passes 99 Per Cent Mark

Work on Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant was more than 99 per cent complete, and behind schedule, as June began, according to Mayor Roy W. Eves.

As the project was winding up, members of the staff of Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer for the city, inspected the entire project and prepared a list of work to be completed.

Crews of the Moyer Brothers Company, which is building the primary treatment plant under a $1,530,000 contract, are now working down the list, item by item.

Roads Are Built

During May, work continued on finishing concrete at the Everts Creek pumping station, and the earth embankment was built around the unit.

At the main plant on Offutt Street Extended, the coarse rack was installed in the gate chamber and the wearing course was placed on the roads and walks of the 10-acre site. Fine grading of ditches on the plant site was begun.

Progress was made on the installation of plumbing and electrical work in various buildings, and on the painting of sludge bed covers and interior and exteriors of buildings.

Work continued on fine grading and seeding of flat areas as slopes were sodded and the site was cleaned up and graded.

Leak Is Sealed

Crews sealed a leak which developed in a construction joint in the primary digestion tank, and brick bulkheads were built in the 18-inch connection to the South Street sewer and the 54-inch canal drain, to prevent oil in the canal from entering the plant.

A cut was also made in the towpath of the C&O Canal to keep the water level in the canal lowered.

Representatives of six manufacturers were at the plant during May, adjusting and checking the equipment their firms furnished.

Air Force Fills Quota Early

Seven men have been enlisted in the Air Force at the local recruiting station, according to M/Sgt. James C. Owens, recruiter in charge. Together with a group being processed, the quota for this month has been filled and the next allotment of men will be shipped in July, Sgt. Owens said.

Those planning to enlist and wish to get started on their tour of duty should apply for the July allotment immediately, he explained.

The seven sent to Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, to begin their basic training include James R. Brant, 517 Forester Avenue; Frederick W. Kehrer, 315 Bedford Street; Carl R. Harbaugh, 1302 Lexington Avenue; Thomas W. Zembower, 411 Columbia Avenue; George Earnest, 23 Blocher Street, Ridgeley; George Justice Jr., 20 Wabash Avenue, Ridgeley; and Benjamin L. Meakle, RFD 1, Breezewood, Pa.

The group being processed to fill this month's quota will go to Baltimore today for final examinations, Sgt. Owens said.

Eastern Greyhound Seeks Rate Hike

CHARLESTON, W. Va., June 10 (AP)—Eastern Greyhound Lines asked the Public Service Commission today for increased fares designed to bring in $10,000 more per year, 11.3 per cent more, from its West Virginia customers.

The company primarily operates in West Virginia on a route between Capon Bridge and Parkersburg. It also has a route running between Clarksburg and Point Marion, Pa., and short runs in both the Northern and Eastern Panhandles.

Eastern Greyhound told the PSC that the higher fares would bring its rates within West Virginia in line with increases recently granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission and with the local fares which the company charges in 13 or 14 other states.

County School Bus Driver Enters Contest

At least one man who drives a bus to Allegany County public schools will compete in the 1957 school bus driver safety award contest sponsored by the School Bus Body Manufacturers' Association.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation in the county public schools, announced Vernon N. Shanholz, who lives on West Virginia State Route 23 just beyond the Ridgeley town limits, will compete in the contest. Last year Mr. Shanholz won a $50 bond in the contest as the winner for Maryland.

Three experts in the field of transportation safety will serve as judges in the contest to select America's safest school bus driver. They are Stephen James, director of the education division, Automotive Safety Foundation; Marion Telford, school transportation committee, National Safety Council, and Shelton Fisher, publisher of "Bus Transportation."

The nation's safest driver will receive a $1,000 U. S. savings bond. Each state finalist will receive a special safety citation. The judging will be conducted in New York City at the end of July and state finalists will be announced prior to the opening of the 1957-58 school year. "Mr. Safety" will be named late in September.

School bus drivers wishing to enter the contest may obtain official entry blanks by writing directly to the School Bus Body Manufacturers' Association, 75 West Street, New York 6, N. Y.

Johnson Heights Fly Ash Investigation Suggested

Finance Commissioner John J. Long yesterday suggested that the city check on fly ash in the Johnson Heights section.

In remarks to the Mayor and Council, he said it might be possible to have the engineering firm being considered for a study of dust from industrial plants make a survey of that section of the city.

Mr. Long also suggested that the Housing Authority erect a sign at the site of its third housing project, so strangers would be informed of the reason for the situation.

Work has been halted while a conflict with the Thruway is being resolved.

There was also comment by city officials on the status of a home on Williams Street which was damaged by fire some time ago.

Theodore Nines, 1601 Ford Avenue, entered a complaint against dust and dirt in that area, and said the street needs oil and repairs.

Finance Commissioner Long turned down a request for a donation to the Mental Health Campaign, pointing out with regret the organization was not earmarked for proceeds of the city's Sunday movie tax.

City officials referred to the city attorney, city engineer and street commissioner for report a request from Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Stakem and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Zimerla that Schlund Avenue be closed between Lots 101 and 100.

George E. Davis, city collector, noted collections of $47,292.10 during May, including $4,546.71 of tax receipts. This will swell the surplus for the next fiscal year, as the tax levy has passed the 100 per cent mark.

Use of water was normal last week. Council was told, and the city's water supply was in fine shape in spite of the drought which ended over the weekend.

Lake Gordon was down only five inches Sunday, and an inch of water was pouring into it from the spillway of Lake Koon, adding up to about a nine-months supply.

Parking meter receipts for the week of June 2 totaled $631.72, a drop of $82.05.

14 Firemen Now Drivers

Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker has announced several personnel assignment changes effective this week in conjunction with a planned program of work days rotation for the members of the Cumberland Fire Department.

In an effort to have at least two regular drivers and an extra chauffeur on duty at all times at each of the city's four stations Chief Parker announced the following advancements:

To extra chauffeur, Harold F. Hershberger, John E. Trost, James W. Sisk, Jacob W. Winters, George C. Lease, Charles A. Nave and Raymond Leidinger. The latter three are listed as tillermen to operate the rear seat wheel of the department's 85-foot hook and ladder engine.

To regular chauffeur, Fred G. Potts, George D. Hohlitzel, Richard H. Smith, Ralph E. Mahoney, Calvin H. Wilt, Louis E. Hartung and Robert H. Meister. Chief Parker said the department now has 16 paid regular chauffeurs, five extra chauffeurs and 11 tillermen.

He said part of his program is an attempt to have a regular driver at each station replaced by another regular driver on off-duty days or vacations with an extra driver available in event of emergency.

Child Welfare Unit Will Meet June 18

Dr. David E. Edwards, a member of the staff of Spring Grove State Hospital, will address the Community Coordinating Council at a meeting here Tuesday, June 18.

The meeting of the council, which represent major Allegany County agencies dealing with child welfare, will be held at 3 p. m. in the Board of Education office with Morris Baron presiding.

Dr. Edwards, who conducts clinics here for the Allegany County Health Department, will discuss the work and facilities of the department's Mental Hygiene clinics.

The meeting is one of a series which is being held to brief co-operating agencies on the services which are available for the rehabilitation of youths of the county.
